

Dear Sponsors,

EMBRN congresses have been held in several European cities (Stuttgart, Southampton, Berlin, Udine, Munich) and gather usually around 200 to 300 clinicians, researchers, students and postdocs for two to three days. The congress also encourages participants from Asia and the United States to join their European colleagues either by giving lectures or by moderating scientific sessions. The 2017 version of our congress will be held at the modern Institute of Molecular Genetics, The Czech Academy of Sciences, Prague (www.img.cas.cz).

It is customary that the scientific committee and local organizing committee (LOC) of EMBRN mobilizes funds taking in charge the social event allowing informal scientific exchange and bringing together an exciting scientific program with International speakers.

The scientific topic of the EMBRN network deals with allergic and inflammatory diseases driven by mast cells and basophils as important cellular players in inflammation. By reading this page, we are sure that this topic interests your company. It is therefore natural that we turn ourselves to your company to ask to participate in sponsoring the scientific sessions.

Any form of sponsorship is welcome and could include sponsorship for a specific speaker one of the major scientific sessions or young researcher sessions including for example also young researcher prizes providing you the opportunity for additional visibility. For sponsorship of whole scientific sessions a minimum of 5000 Euros is required. Sponsorship will allow you to have a booth at the meeting and have access to all scientific sessions.

We believe that you could highly benefit from the presence of the mixture of clinicians, researchers and young fellows researchers and from their presentations of the newest results from their laboratories.

We thank you for your attention to our meeting and we are ready to discuss any further details with you.

Yours sincerely,

Marcus Maurer
EMBRN president

Petr Dráber
on behalf of LOC